"You are personally responsible for becoming more ethical than the society you grew up in."

A well said Quote by -Eliezer Yudkowsky

Ethic is a word that describes our morals, our principles and how we can lead our life in a best way. We are our self responsible for how ethical we are and how we want to see our society.

Recently we had a session on social ethics and moral values that focused on importance of social ethics in human life and the way we can change our perspective.

According to the speaker our:

First priority should be towards our RELATIONSHIPS. They can make our life good and worse too. Relationships are a great source of motivation and peace and can benefit one's life in different ways. So, maintaining our relationships in a good way is our utmost responsibility.

Second most important ethic was HAPPINESS, if we are happy from inside than only we can decide what is good or bad for us. Happiness is just a state of mind but changes our attitude on how we lead our life and how we behave with people. Moreover, happiness strengthens our relationships and helps us maintain our mental and physical health accordingly.

Third point that speaker stated was a PROFESSIONAL ETHIC, as we are teachers and sometimes it becomes depressing and frustrating in some scenarios. But, these negative emotions are to be left apart. A good teacher can change many lives and destroy as such. So, it is important to understand who we are and what our responsibilities are.

We should never think ourselves to be less important than any other profession contributing to the society.

Furthermore, a student who comes to a teacher knows what he wants to be but the path is provided by a teacher only. So, we should try to handle students in a better way and always try to motivate and encourage them.

The main aspect of motivating a student is to be polite and tell him to be confident and patient. In a professional life our colleagues are our friends, our supporting factor and it is very important to have a good relationship towards every one of them.

We should try to learn from everyone and should help anyone if required. This relationship always should be respectful towards both senior's colleagues and junior's colleagues as well.

Now, last but not the least money or salary is one thing that drives us to do both good and bad, and this is truly important to state that we should always try focus on what we are doing rather than chasing money. Yes, it is true that money is something that can change our life but it should not be forgotten that we are humans and all the ethics we discussed earlier have equal impact on our lives. So, everything should be prioritized to lead a healthy life both mentally and physically.

We should always try to be satisfied by what we have and try to give our best.
